

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1910.

Entered at the post office at Barre as second-class matter.

Published every week-day afternoon. Subscriptions: One year, $3.00; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Davis suits in Boston are proving a close fit.

Why not make the legal length of trout five and six-nineties inches?

Those thirteen newspaper men probably thought they were lucky to have a banquet, and let it go at that.

The "Congressional Record" is not a bad penny, but it's back. Welcome to the happy home on the exchange desk!

Will American aviators fall for the presumption of that Frenchman who wrested away the altitude record at 10,499 feet? We opine not.

Messrs. Dillingham, Page, Foster and Plumley answered "Present" at the roll call last Monday. May they always be on the job and answering you or nay!

Nobody, not even Ballinger's friends, feels a decisiveness about the majority report of the investigating committee. There is among many a feeling that more is to come.

One of our old friends of former legislatures, the Metewee Valley railway, is missing this year. One might hope that the Metewee is making as good runs as it is used to make up and down the State House and then up and down again.

The advice of a granite trade paper to order your monuments early would be interpreted as a threat in some places; but as written it is simply good advice to the retail dealers. We second the motion. By ordering early you'll avoid the rush.

For full-grown institutions, Brown and Dartmouth are showing very childish actions regarding a resumption of athletic relations—just as childish as Harvard and Princeton showed many years ago, when they started a barrier which looks like a mountain now.

The Waterbury Record well says that "the trustees of the university of Vermont now have the opportunity to prove to the state that the right men are in office." Taken as a whole, the trustees are men of the proper calibre of judging about the necessities of the position of president of the modern university. Let us give them a calm chance.

Congratulations to editor Franklin Fisher of the Burlington Clipper, who has just been left $3,000 by the terms of the late David Bennett Hill. Mr. Fisher's son, Bennett Hill Fisher, coming in for $2,000 additional. It is so seldom that a newspaper man has anything of that nature given to him that we hardly know how to appreciate it.—Manchester Journal.

Say, you talk as if you were the lucky man 'stead of Fisher.

TWO WEEKS FOR CHRISTMAS.

There are two weeks to Christmas. Speaker Howe says the House can perform its work in a decent fashion in those two weeks, if the members exercise due diligence. As for the Senate, it will most certainly keep pace with the House, as usual. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to hope that the Vermont general assembly will wind up its biennial term on December 23 or December 24.

DANIEL R. SORTWELL'S "SALARY."

The statement alleged to have been made by someone connected with the Vermont legislature that young Daniel R. Sortwell is drawing a salary of $50,000 as president of the Montpelier &amp; Wells River railroad needs no characterization by General Auditor F. S. Anable as ridiculous, for it is ridiculous on the face of it. That a little line of 38 miles over a sparsely settled territory and not accounted of any importance in the railroad world should pay such a sum to its executive who does the presiding from an office in State street, Boston, is out of the question. It is true that Barre and Montpelier with their industries make large contributions to transportation of freight, but outside of the shipments of Barre granite and the handling of incoming products to the two cities mentioned there is scarcely enough to keep a railroad alive. It is probable that the statement, if it was made at

Just keep this point in mind when thinking of clothing.

This is not an agency store, nor a syndicate store, nor a "credit-mortgage-on-your-soul" store.

We buy where we find the best clothing for the price. We are free and untrammelled to examine and select from the best clothing manufacturers in the United States and we buy from many houses. This is a big benefit to our customers in variety, style, fabric, cut and make.

Today our special is Overcoats. All styles, all colors for all ages $1.25 to $35.00.

Everything ready in our store for early holiday shopping. If you're undecided what to buy him come in and take a look at the useful gifts we offer, or send for our list. We ask you to SHOP EARLY. You know you may exchange or return any purchase here.

Current Comment

The Montpelier & Wells River R. R.
Representative Calderwood of St. Johnsbury introduced a resolution last week which went through both branches of the legislature like greased lightning. The Caledonia county gentleman is after the Montpelier and Wells River railroad. He thinks the passenger rates on this road are excessive, especially if the report is true that the earnings of the road warrant the president being paid a yearly salary of fifty thousand dollars. People who have occasion to use this road can see merit in this resolution and admire the man who has the nerve to show up a railroad in its true light—Waterbury Record.

Work of a State Ornithologist.

The bill before the Vermont legislature to create a state ornithologist to serve without salary should become a law. Every state should have a state ornithologist, Massachusetts, Connecticut and other states have such officials. The state ornithologist can be useful and valuable to the citizens of the state. He will be under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture, who has the means to pay for printing such leaflets or other articles upon birds and bird life as may be prepared by the ornithologist. The ornithologist may deliver lectures upon birds and their value in response to calls made upon him by granges, societies, clubs, etc. He may investigate the status of insectivorous birds in the commonwealth and report upon them. He may suggest and advocate beneficial legislation in behalf of useful birds. He can do much to educate the children in the schools, especially those of foreigners, who kill birds.—Rutland News.

Battell's Gifts.

There will be no particular objection to holding the winter of Colonel Battell and keeping motor cars off the summit of Camel's Hump if he will carry out his plan and present the tract to the state as a forest preserve. We expect that when the colonel acquires the tail of the next passing comet and presents it to the state for a whisk broom he will stipulate that no autos shall travel it.—Randolph Herald and News.
